Legal Clinic Workshop

Örebro University (online)

2 May 2022

14:00-17:00

As part of the LAWGEM project, Örebro University's team, led by Associate Prof. Susanne Strand, has developed a syllabus on Gender Equality Legal Clinic for the European Master Program on Law and Gender which further works towards launching the legal clinic at Örebro University.

The concept of legal clinic including theoretical and methodological approaches alludes to differences and diversity of practices in different countries. Therefore, it is thought necessary to have an interactive workshop among partner institutes before the upcoming conference in May 2022.

The aim of this workshop is for the partner institutes to share their diverse experiences with legal clinics and further exchange ideas on how to emphasize the importance of gender sensitive approach in legal clinics highlighting the specificities of each country's context.

Please kindly prepare for the following questions before the workshop having in mind human rights, judicial, civil society, and legal perspectives:

- What are the main goals of legal clinics in your country and how are they achieved?
- What do you think are the current challenges in running a legal clinic in general and with a focus on gender equality in particular?
- What would be the most important gender issue to focus on at the legal clinic in your country?
- How would you strive to develop the role of legal clinic in higher education/academia?

The workshop will be facilitated by Associate Prof. Susanne Strand from Örebro University.

If the number of participants is significant, break out room will be created to discuss the questions in groups and the results of the discussions will be presented afterwards.
